The CaZo Asylum opens back up on Friday the 13th

Phoenix, Arizona, August 8, 2017 — CaZo Dance Company would like to announce the third feature-length chapter in the beloved Asylum trilogy, Asylum: Resurrection, coming to the Phoenix Center for the Arts on Friday, October 13, 2017.

For two years, patrons at the Phoenix Center for the Arts have laid witness to the horrors of the CaZo Asylum. After the death of Dr. Zillo in Asylum: The Undertaking, telekinetic Carrie has opened the asylum once again with a new crop of famous characters that'll drive you mad, including Norma Bates, one of several new staff members hired to rebuild the asylum to its former glory. But with her and her son's arrival, insanity begins to manifest itself in dangerous ways.

"Each chapter of Asylum is based on a different theme," says CaZo Dance Company owner and choreographer Bridgette Borzillo. "The first was about an all-female asylum and the empowerment of these characters rising up against their male staff. The second chapter expanded to male patients, which allowed us to explore how an alleged sick person trying to find stability would react when threatened to perform acts of violence. This third chapter takes things even further, dealing a lot more with the overpowering force of addiction."

Continuing their tradition of bringing famous cinematic characters together, Borzillo has assembled a terrific cast to portray some of the most psychotic characters from the silver screen. Joining returning players from films like Black Swan and Carrie are characters from Silence of the Lambs, A Cure for Wellness, Nightmare On Elm Street 3, and Drop Dead Fred, among others.

"I've always thought it was a cool idea to bring together characters from different movies to interact with one another," Borzillo says. "And though I knew who the characters were in the first two chapters, the audience may not have. So this year, I'm doing some things to heighten that idea and make it clear to the audience what characters are being represented in the show."

Performances of Asylum: Resurrection will be presented on Friday, October 13th at 8 p.m. and Saturday, October 14th at 5 and 8 p.m. in the 3rd Street Theatre at Phoenix Center for the Arts in Phoenix, Arizona. Tickets are on sale now at www.cazodance.com. Prices are $20 per ticket, or $15 for students (plus $1 surcharge).

Whether you've dared enter the asylum in the past, you won't want to miss this final chapter in the Asylum trilogy. Will anyone make it out of the asylum alive? Only time will tell.
